For Nourishing A Child's Sense Of Joy...

From our Board of Directors, our Farm staff and, most importantly, from the students and teachers who attend the Farms For City Kids™ program, we say THANK YOU to you, our donors, who without your support, Farms For City Kids would not be in a position to tap into each child's innate sense of joy and wonder.

Thanks to your generous donations we nourish each child's sense of wonder, providing them the opportunity to see possibilities differently, to fuel their imaginations and, most importantly, to question. And it is through their limitless curiosity that students come alive with an eagerness to embrace greater opportunities, make stronger connections with others and realize the joy in living an experience instead of playing video games and watching TV.

Your continued support allows our inner city youth to leave behind their daily routines and invigorate their lives with an experience that both adds curious wonder to their lives and provides them with a fresh, new perspective. From the minute they arrive at the Farm our students never stop asking "Who, what, where, when, why and how". Because when the seeds of curiosity are planted, young people keep their sense of wonder and keep asking "WHY"!

We are the lucky ones who witness firsthand the excitement as students realize when they first discover something new. It is through their childlike eyes of awe and wonder, when they first approach a calf, or pick a vegetable from the garden, or watch milk transformed into cheese, or discover the beauty and quietness of nature, that their curiosity is piqued. And from that point on:

They embrace a vivid sense of the world they live in — and their lives will never be the same!
